CONTRIBUTORS TO THIS NUMBER

JOHN JAY CHAPMAN,
an essayist of distinction among America's men of letters, is poet as well. His volumes are numerous, the more recent being Deutschland über Alles, and Greek Genius and Other Essays.

ALBERT H. WASHBURN,
President of the Association of the Customs Bar, is a lawyer of international experience. He was Delegate to the recent Massachusetts Constitutional Convention, and at one time served as Special Counsel for the United States Treasury in Custom cases.

H. E. BARNES,
Lecturer in History at Columbia University, was formerly Instructor in Historical Sociology at Syracuse University. Mr. Barnes was for two years Fellow of Columbia University and has done special historical research work.

GRAHAM H. STUART,
Assistant in the Department of Political Science at the University of Wisconsin, was a student at the University of Paris. When the war broke he was at L'École des Sciences Politiques in Paris collecting material for a volume of biographical sketches of men prominent in French political life of today.

CLYDE WILLIAM PARK
is an American by birth and received his education at Ohio State and Harvard Universities. At the present time he is Associate Professor of English at the University of Cincinnati, and also President of the Ohio Library Commission. He has had special opportunities to secure the data for the important paper in this REVIEW.
